ONE-YEAR CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS
LEARNING SUPPORT COREQUISITES/PREREQUISITES

Students accepted into certificate programs must take the COMPASS Test if ACT or SAT scores are unsatisfactory in English, math, and reading. The COMPASS Test determines the level of proficiency that a student has in the areas of English, math, and reading. If a course requires a Learning Support corequisite/prerequisite, and a student does not meet the passing score on that part of the COMPASS Test, the student must take the required Learning Support corequisite(s)/prerequisite(s) before enrolling in the corresponding college-level course(s). The table below indicates the Learning Support Corequisites/Prerequisites for each program.
